

Careers in Archaeology & Museum Services

"Careers in Archaeology & Museum Services highlights 30 occupations with a snapshot that includes features such as median pay, typical education, job prospects, working conditions, and recommended areas of interest for that field. Additionally, entries include a general overview with information about similar occupations. One of the key features of each entry is an interview with an individual currently in that occupation to provide a firsthand glance at what each professional does in their role, how they got there, essential skills for the role, what they wish they knew before their role, what the job prospects are like in their field, and where they see their profession going in the next five years...

... As with previous books in this series, the careers highlighted in this volume are meant to focus on high school and undergraduate students.

Additionally, this item is worth considering for inclusion in collections that assist with career development, as the editors designed the book to align with secondary and high school curriculums.

ATG Reviewer Rating: I need this available somewhere in my shared network."
