

Critical Insights: Arthur Miller

Table of Contents

About This Volume

Brenda Murphy

Career, Life, and Influence

On Arthur Miller

Brenda Murphy

Biography of Arthur Miller

Carl Rollyson and Victoria Price

The Paris Review Perspective

Richard Beck for The Paris Review

Critical Contexts

Best Intentions Far Awry: The Family Dynamic in Miller's All My Sons and

Death of a Salesman

Pamela Loos

"It's All About the Language": Arthur Miller's Poetic Dialogue

Stephen A. Marino

The Freedom of Others: Arthur Miller's Social and Political Context

Katherine Egerton

The Critical Reception of Arthur Miller's Work

Jane K. Dominik

Critical Readings

Arthur Miller and the Art of the Possible

Steven R. Centola

Arthur Miller: Un-American

Christopher Bigsby

All My Sons and Paternal Authority

James A. Robinson

"There's No Place Like Home": Miller's "Poem," Frost's "Play"

George Monteiro

Asking "Queer Questions," Revealing Ugly Truths: Giles Corey's Subversive Eccentricity

in The Crucible

J. Chris Westgate

Verse, Figurative Language, and Myth in A View from the Bridge

Stephen A. Marino

Uneasy Collaboration: Miller, Kazan, and After the Fall

Brenda Murphy

All About Talk: Arthur Miller's The Price

Gerald Weales

Both His Sons: Arthur Miller's The Price and Jewish Assimilation

James A. Robinson

The "Line to Measure From": Arthur Miller's The American Clock as a Lesson for the Ages

Susan C. W. Abbotson

Coming to Roost Again: Tragic Rhythm in Arthur Miller's Broken Glass

Terry Otten

Arthur Miller's Ironic Resurrection

Jeffrey D. Mason

The Fiction of Arthur Miller

Laurence Goldstein

Resources

Chronology of Arthur Miller's Life

Works by Arthur Miller

Bibliography

About the Editor

About The Paris Review
Contributors
Acknowledgments